

Group Lessons with Andrés Amarilla and Meredith Klein at the Penn State Ballroom Dance Club

updated on 18 November 2007

Financial support for this event has been provided by Penn State's UPAC office so that Penn State students and members of the Penn State Ballroom Dance Club can participate without charge (unless otherwise noted). Other participants are welcome, and may make a donation that they feel is appropriate for the value of the experiences and learning opportunities provided during this event.

Private Lessons with Andrés and Meredith

Opportunities for private lessons are available in the home of one of our tango teachers at various times from Thursday, 29 November, through Monday, 3 December. Andres and Meredith both teach each private lesson together.

The private lessons will be taught by both Andres and Meredith together, and the cost may be shared among up to four participants. The cost for one or two participants is $65 for Penn State students and $85 for all others. The cost for three or four participants is $80 for Penn State students and $100 for all others.

Barbara Kennedy will assist (by e-mail to science@psu.edu) with scheduling private lessons until Andres and Meredith arrive at Penn State, after which Andres and Meredith will take over the scheduling process during the group lessons.
